MONTENEGRO QUILTS FIGHT AGAINST AUSTRIA

COUNTY MOOSE SHUN MAYOR FOR DENEEN

Support Republican Aldermanic Candidates Opposed to Thompson.

The Cook county Progressive party organization yesterday went over in a body to support Mayor Charles S. Deneen and his organization.

The declared uncompromising war on Mayor Thompson, Fred Lundin, and the entire city hall crowd.

The Deneen-Like amalgamation, which not wholly unexpected, came suddenly upon the way for one of the fiercest political battles in Chicago in recent years.

Battle All Along Lines.

The forces will attempt to do this thing.

Every candidate for alderman opposed by Mayor Thompson.

Every candidate for ward committee opposed by the Thompson-Lundin forces.

The fusion movement to every candidate in Illinois and give battle to the Thompson-Lundin forces.

These to Aid Deneen.

The Progressive leaders who rejoiced at the national "fatted calf" program yesterday and who clapped hands with Deneen and Roy O. West for a last night fight on Thompson and Lundin.

THAT OVERCOAT?

For 24 hours the temperature in Chicago has been below zero. It was 3 below at 3 this morning. Here is a hint to the fortunate on how to aid the less lucky.

There are persons in Chicago who will have to face the biting, below-zero blasts without overcoats. You can help. Bundle Day is next Monday. Take your bundle to the nearest public school building and turn it over to the engineer today or tomorrow. Or send them to the Bundle Day headquarters at the Pugh terminal warehouse on the North Side.

Murder Spy Who Caused Nurse to Die

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 13.—The Belgian army, which denounced Miss Edith Cavell, the English nurse, to the Germans, was assassinated yesterday. His body was found in a street in Brussels, near Brussels, and bore two bullet wounds.

Cavell, formerly served in the Belgian army, from which he was dismissed long before the war. For months he was in the pay of the Germans, his special work being to pretend, under assumed names, to help Belgians over the Dutch border. Needless to say, he always turned them over to the Germans.

The story goes, Cavell was paid so much for each Belgian betrayed.

In September he denounced Miss Cavell, and he was the only witness at her trial. Hundreds of Belgians swore that Cavell would share his victim's fate. A number of them met recently in Brussels and elected a man to shoot him.

The Germans had the body removed from the hospital to which it was taken and no efforts were made, on Gen. von Bissing's special order, to discover the murderer.

WHERE'S GALLIOLI? CO-EDS BEST MEN IN ANSWERING.

Barnard College Girls Prove They Know More War Geography than Male Students.

New York, Jan. 13.—[Special.]—If there were smiles of complacency around Barnard college today it was merely because the girls of that institution have again vanquished man in a test of brains, this time in an examination of some of the names and places that are conspicuous in the war.

A class of thirty-two came out of the test with a percentage of 74.5, as compared with the record of 68 per cent for the men of Bowdoin college and New York university, who took the same examination.

The question that proved the greatest stumbling block to the students was "Where is Gallipoli?" Twenty out of thirty-three men were wrong and fifteen of the girls failed. One girl placed it in the Balkans, another in Italy, and another explained that it is on the peninsula "where Turkey is."

Only four of the girls bounded Serbia accurately, most of them leaving out Albania and Montenegro. One wrote that "Serbia is bounded by a little of Roumania."

The German commander of the attacking forces, says the correspondent, will make use of Austrian, Bulgarian, and Turkish forces. The participation of the Turks has been doubtful, he adds, but it is now certain that they will be included in the attacking army.

The destruction by French engineers of the bridge over the Struma river at Demir-Hissar, reported in Saloniki dispatches, shows the gravity of the situation of the allied forces defending the Greek town.

Greek troops tried in vain to prevent the allies blowing up the bridge. The small force of Greeks sent for reinforcements, but the bridge was destroyed before their arrival.

ITALY LOSES ADRIATIC RULE TO ENEMIES

Armistice with Balkan State Gives Foe Control of the Sea.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—Another decisive stage in the Balkan situation has been reached with Montenegro now following Serbia in virtual absorption by the invading forces.

It was learned tonight that Austria and Montenegro had come to an armistice, this being construed as the last act of the little country after having its capital, Cetinje, dominated by the Austrian capture of Mount Lovcen.

Whether King Nicholas will continue the unequal struggle is considered doubtful here, but the accepted view among the best posted men in London is that Montenegro virtually has passed under Austrian control.

AUSTRIAN FLEET AT CATTARO.

The chief significance of this does not lie in the small, territorial acquisition, which is less than Serbia, but in Montenegro's Adriatic front, lying alongside the Austrian main offensive naval station of Cattaro, where, today's dispatches announce, the entire Austrian fleet, including three dreadnaughts, is assembled and from which was made the recent naval raid against Italian troops going to the relief of Serbia.

This further extension of Austria's Adriatic front, with the dominating naval center of Cattaro, is viewed as further tending toward the realization of Austria's object of making the Adriatic an Austrian sea and thus checking Italy's ambition to make it an Italian sea.

ITALY FAILS TO AID.

Italy had so much at stake that officials and diplomats had been waiting anxiously for the steps Italy would take to relieve Montenegro and at the same time avert another Austrian extension on the Adriatic. They were aware that Italy had once before prevented Austria from gaining territorial concessions from Montenegro near Cattaro by emphatically objecting to the treaty made in 1912.

It was believed that dynastic reasons would play a part in Italy's assistance of Montenegro, as King Nicholas' daughter is the wife of the king of Italy, but help from that quarter did not arrive, as the Italian expedition was landed farther south, in Albania, and has not been heard from since.

FUSE SALONIKI ATTACK.

ROME, Jan. 13.—The attack of the Teutonic allies on the entente forces defending Saloniki is being developed on a large scale, according to the Athens correspondent of the Giornale d'Italia, telegraphing under Tuesday's date. He reports that a bombardment of the British line to the Dolra zone proceeded all day Monday.

The German commander of the attacking forces, says the correspondent, will make use of Austrian, Bulgarian, and Turkish forces. The participation of the Turks has been doubtful, he adds, but it is now certain that they will be included in the attacking army.

EXTRA!

Gas Plant Blast Jars West Side; Blows Two to Bits

Two men were killed at 12:15 o'clock this morning when the explosion of an acetylene tank wrecked the gas plant of the Chicago and Northwestern railway at California avenue and Kinzie street.

The explosion broke every window within a mile of the plant and sent fragments of steel plates and girders flying over a wide area.

The blast was heard all over the west side. Terror stricken householders, roused from their beds, telephoned inquiries to police stations and newspapers for an hour in the belief there had been an earthquake.

ENGINEERS AND FIREMAN DIE.

The men killed were John Johnson, Harding and Chicago avenue, engineer of the plant, and Michael Brennan, 2015 West Austin avenue, a fireman. Both were at work in the engine room, which is housed in a building about 100 feet from the tank which exploded.

The blast tore off the roof of this building and drove white-hot fragments of steel through the walls. A 10,000 gallon oil tank was set on fire. It may burn for three days.

Johnson's body was burned to ashes and Brennan was so badly mangled he could be identified only by checking up the company's lists.

Matt Brunck and Henry Peternek, firemen, also were in the building, but by some miracle they escaped unhurt.

FIREMEN MEET DIFFICULTIES.

The plant is used for supplying cars with gas for the Pilsch lighting system. More than 1,000 passenger coaches were stored on the tracks about the buildings and lines of hose had to be dragged over and under these before the blast which followed the explosion could be reached by firemen.

This difficulty was increased by the fact that there were two other large tanks near the one which exploded. For a time it was feared these would blow up, but quick work on the part of the firemen prevented this.

SHOP BUILDINGS DAMAGED.

The gas plant is one of a group of railroad shops which occupy an area of about six acres. All the buildings and all the cars stored in this space were more or less damaged by the force of the explosion and the rain of steel fragments which followed it.

It was at first reported two other men had been buried in the ruins of the engine room, but those who escaped said afterward all had been accounted for.

The police also received a mistaken report that two trains had collided. For this reason a large force of policemen and many ambulances were rushed to the scene.

The cause of the explosion could not be learned.

KAISER'S HEALTH RESTORED; RESUMES HIS DAILY WALKS.

Bell on Neck Nearly Healed and Interviewer Finds Him in Best of Spirits.

BERLIN, Jan. 13.—Emperor William again is in good health. He no longer remains in his apartment, but takes his usual walks in Potsdam in pleasant weather.

The bell on the emperor's neck has again healed that he is again wearing his uniform, but he leaves the high collar open to prevent pressure on the tender spot.

An official who conversed with the emperor on Wednesday and Thursday said he was in exceptionally good spirits and that there was absolutely nothing to justify the pessimistic reports about his health.

The foregoing dispatch apparently belies continued reports from the capitals of the allied nations of the serious illness of the emperor of Germany. A Rome dispatch yesterday stated that the queen of Greece, who is a sister of the Kaiser, had been summoned to his bedside in Berlin.

FORMER MEXICAN DICTATOR DEAD

VICTORIANO HUERTA

Gen. Victoriano Huerta, former dictator of Mexico, died yesterday in El Paso after a long illness. Gen. Huerta had been under surveillance of American officials since his release from prison. He was ousted from control of Mexican affairs following the American occupation of Vera Cruz.

NEW YORK WOMAN ON VISIT TO MOTHER DISAPPEARS.

Mrs. Lillian Pardo, suffering from Nervous Trouble, Leaves House and Fails to Return.

Soon after her arrival in Chicago yesterday from New York City Mrs. Lillian Pardo disappeared from the residence of her mother, Mrs. M. Schlegel, 5783 West Ohio street. Fear is felt here she has been kidnapped.

Mrs. Pardo is 49 years old. She has long been a sufferer from nervous trouble. Thinking a change of scene would benefit her, Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, a sister, went to New York a few days ago and returned with Mrs. Pardo. The sisters arrived yesterday morning and went directly to the home of their mother.

Five minutes after her arrival Mrs. Pardo left the house, saying she was going to a grocery. She has not been seen since. She wore considerable jewelry.

Drunken Guards Kill Aged Patient in Dunning Ward

A drunken guard and his mate stung a 61 year old patient to death in the Dunning hospital for the insane yesterday.

Dr. George Leininger, superintendent, says, however, that the patient, Leonard Noll, would have died in another week, anyhow.

The killing recalls the death on Dec. 10 of Fred Redman, an inmate, who had been scalded to death by a careless attendant.

Clinton Avery and Daniel Walsh, attendants involved in the latest slaying, were suspended by Dr. Leininger, who at once obtained warrants and had them arrested.

"Noll would have died within a week or two had he been unharmed," said Dr. Leininger, "but their attack, I believe, brought on a more speedy death."

Noll was admitted to the hospital last May. He has lived at 1626 West Fourteenth street and was suffering from general paralysis caused from insanity.

When he was left by the guards who beat him to death his face, head, and the upper part of his body were gashed and bruised. His right jaw was broken.

Avery and Walsh were taken to the Irving Park station and they soon fell asleep. Neither could give intelligent answers to questions regarding the death of Noll.

A brother of Avery appeared at the station and said the trouble was started by Noll. He said Noll bit his brother on a finger and Walsh then went to aid Avery in subduing the patient.

KNOX TO SEEK SENATE SEAT

Former Secretary of State Is Candidate to Succeed Senator Oliver of Pennsylvania.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 13.—Phlander C. Knox, former secretary of state, tonight announced that he would be a candidate for the United States senate to succeed Senator George T. Oliver, who has made public his intention to retire at the expiration of his present term.

Friends of Richard W. Wolfe, former president of the Cook county real estate board and former vice president of the Irish Fellowship club, are quietly urging him for postmaster of Chicago as a harmony candidate.

ENFORCE MARTIAL LAW

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 14, 2 a. m.

Gen. Pershing of the United States army has declared martial law over El Paso and the city is being patrolled by provost guards of regulars from Fort Bliss.

A detachment of fifty regulars has been sent to the lower part of the city where a large number of Mexicans are reported armed.

The sentries at the international bridge, connecting this city with Juarez, have been strengthened to stop any possible attempt by Mexicans to cross.

The police, with the aid of regulars, continue their search for all Villa adherents. Half a hundred or more of them have been rounded up.

RIOTING ALL EVENING.

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 13.—Raids by United States soldiers on all places here frequented by Villa adherents followed the report of the capture of Gen. Rodriguez and Almeida.

The execution of the latter by American miners and Carranza soldiers in the Madero region.

More than twenty of Villa's followers, including Miguel Diaz Lombardo, former foreign minister in the bandit's cabinet; Gen. Manuel Banda, Gen. Juan Prieto, and two brothers of Gen. Medinavilla, Villa's former chief of staff, were arrested in the technical charge of vagrancy and were deported from El Paso. They left over the Southern Pacific for California.

A squad of about fifty soldiers aiding the police shortly before 10 o'clock started through one of the main thoroughfares "looking for Mexicans."

A little later they declared they had "cleaned up El Paso street" in the business section.

CLEAN OUT A SALOON.

Earlier in the evening four soldiers dispersed patrons of a main saloon. Then the rounding and jailing of suspected Villa adherents continued during the early part of the night.

Street brawls between Mexicans and Americans occurred frequently.

Knives frequently were used by the Mexicans, and all ambulances in the city were rushing through the streets, while physicians and surgeons were sent to all parts of the city. Most of the fights were between American soldiers and Mexicans.

Police reserves were called out and the order was given to keep the people moving in all downtown streets.

BORDER WILD WITH ANGER.

The action of the police and soldiers was not unexpected. The border is wild with anger over the massacre of eighteen Americans, whose bodies arrived here today after a perilous trip through the bandit infested country.

Anger was turned to joy, for a few hours, however, when the report that Rodriguez and Almeida had been captured, the latter shot on the spot, and more than forty members of their band killed. The remainder were either captured or scattered.

DEATH FOR RODRIGUEZ.

The capture was made by Maximiliano Marquez and 125 American miners, aided by a small force of Carranza soldiers. Marquez is an employe of mining interests at Babicora and is now at Madero with his prisoners. A fate like that meted out to Almeida is in store for Rodriguez, it is declared.

The message from Madero confirming the capture of the two men stated that Rodriguez was met in a pitched battle, defeated, and his men scattered, captured, and killed.

Reports had connected Rodriguez with the Santa Isabel massacre, but, subsequently, passengers on the ill fated train declared Gen. Bernal and Col. Lopez and Baltra participated in the execution of the foreigners.

MEXICAN NEWS IN A NUTSHELL.

Street fighting between United States regulars and Mexicans in El Paso streets reported. More than twenty Villa followers deported from Texas town. Martial law declared.

Gen. Rodriguez and Almeida, Villa chiefs, captured by American miners and Carranza soldiers. Almeida shot. Like fate awaits Rodriguez. No trace yet of Pablo Lopez, actual leader of the assassins. Carranza sends troops to seek him.

The death of three more Americans in bandit infested section of country is confirmed.

the Santa Isabel massacre, but, subsequently, passengers on the ill fated train declared Gen. Bernal and Col. Lopez and Baltra participated in the execution of the foreigners.

MOBE AMERICANS SLAIN.

Confirmation of the execution of three other Americans was received in advices from western Chihuahua. George F. Parsons was killed while prospecting near the Babicora ranch, where Peter Keane was killed several weeks ago. The third was Bart Kramer, killed in the Guerrero district.

A report was current in Chihuahua that ten American men and two English women had been killed by Villa troops at Madero, Chihuahua, according to Americans who arrived here early today. It is thought this rumor resulted from a report of the capture of Rodriguez.

PLAN TO INVADE MEXICO.

On top of the soldier-police raid reports were current that American anti-aircraft balloons and mines were being held in secret meeting to organize an armed band to invade Mexico and seek revenge for the murder of the American miners who were slain by order, it is said, of a Villa chieftain, in pursuance of a threat made by Villa, when Gen. Carranza's government was recognized by the United States, that he would avenge himself on Americans.

All employes of the American Smelting company in Chihuahua and Durango and the employes of the Alvarado Mining company of Parral have been ordered out of Mexico by the companies. A number of other foreign companies in these states have issued similar orders.

Aak Guard for Refugees.

Negotiations have begun with the de facto government of Mexico to secure special trains with which to bring Americans still remaining in the bandit terrorized district of northern Mexico to the international border. Military escorts adequate to insure the safe arrival of the refugees also has been requested.

Replying to the request for aid to bring anti-American Andreas Garcia, Carranza counsel here, declared his chief had arranged to send a sufficient number of troops into northern Mexico to rid that part of the country of bandits.

Fear New Bandit Raids.

Messages received here from Douglas, Ariz., saying that Gen. Alberto Garcia with a force of 300 men was operating in the Babicora district were received with appreciation for the safety of James Lord, manager of the Monte Cristo Mining company, 100 miles south of Nogales, Sonora. Lord is an Englishman. With him are two daughters, 19 and 21 years of age, respectively.

During November and December, when Carranza was active in the district, Lord hid his daughters in the mine. He is the only foreigner believed to have been south of Nogales.

have appealed to British Diplomats Agent H. G. Myer, who stated tonight he would bring the matter to the attention of the British ambassador at Washington.

Tells of Terrible Conditions.
H. M. Sims, brother of former United States District Attorney Sims of Chicago, director of the company, who left home last week, said the entire district of Sonora south of Nacozari is in a destitute condition.

Women are wearing old sacks for clothing and handkerchiefs and wearing no shoes, he said. He said he met various Americans going to outlying mining camps ready to open up on the assurance given by Gen. Obregon at a meeting of mining men in Douglas promising ample protection and giving his personal guarantee that they would not be molested.

Urges Outing of Consul.
A petition to President Wilson, urging the immediate removal of Thomas D. Edwards, American consul at Juarez, for alleged indifference to American interests in Mexico, indicated the tension in the public mind here today.

Edwards was received with shouts of derision when he appeared in the lobby of a local hotel filled with mining men.

"You cannot intimidate me," Edwards calmly told the miners, and, turning his back, he strode from the lobby.

Consul Edwards later stated that protection for the massacred Americans was promised by Gen. Gavira, commander at Juarez, Jan. 4.

"The state department wired me Jan. 4," he said, "to make urgent representations to the Carranza government here to protect the train upon which the massacred Americans traveled to Santa Ysabel."

Gen. Gavira gave me positive assurance and a message was sent to Gen. Obregon on the matter, but nothing was done.

2,000 Sign the Petition.
Signatures to the petition were limited by the promoters to those Americans who have interests in Mexico. The protest had 2,000 signatures and was still being added to.

Mr. Edwards, when informed of the petition, said if there were any charges against him he would answer them before the state department.

"The incident in the hotel lobby was started by a couple of drunken men," he said, "and I regard it as closed."

"I have never yet, since the state department ordered Americans out of Mexico two years ago, granted a single passport into Mexico, and have discouraged people from going into the country."

"Whatever I have done has been under instructions of the state department with the sole idea of doing what the government wished."

The text of the Edwards petition was telegraphed to Col. Theodore Roosevelt and he was asked to use his influence in reference to redressing the wrongs suffered by foreigners in Mexico.

Funerals of the Victims.
A double funeral for E. L. Robinson, said to have been a British subject, and Maurice Anderson, two of the Santa Ysabel victims, was held this afternoon. Services for other El Paso victims will be held later, and tonight several bodies were ready for shipment to El Paso to be returned to homes in other cities.

These arrangements included George W. Newman, to Keene, N. H.; Alexander Hall, to Douglas, Ariz.; C. A. Pringle, to San Francisco; A. H. Couch, said to be a Canadian citizen, to Barnhart, Tex.; W. D. Pearce, to Los Angeles; and H. C. Hesse, to Kansas City.

How Bodies Were Recovered.
This story of the recovery of the bodies of the eighteen Americans slain near Chihuahua was told here today by a newspaper man who was on the relief train.

"We waited from 3 a. m. to 9 a. m. Tuesday for the soldiers to enter their horses and then got into a small following train of three box cars and a caboose. It took us six hours to get to Santa Ysabel, about thirty-five miles, and five miles west of the scene of the massacre."

"The sun was setting low and we realized that if we did not complete our task we might never get the bodies away. We quickly got Col. Garcia, in command of the troops, to put ten soldiers in our train and permit us to go ahead. A mile from the scene of the tragedy we were stopped by two excited Mexicans who urged the crew to reverse the engine and we moved back to Santa Ysabel."

Bandits Watch Rescuers.
"We there found that the two men had been part of the train crew of Watson's train and had been held prisoners and that the troops, presumably bandits, were just over the hill awaiting us."

"Presently their advance guard topped the rise and waited there, leisurely counting our force."

"We finally persuaded the colonel to give us sixty mounted men to go with us abreast of the train, on which we now had mounted two machine guns."

"We got to the scene of the tragedy just at sunset. As the train came to a standstill we could dimly see the wrecked train that had halted the Watson train, and then our eyes fell on a patch of white that showed up against the rocky cut, steeped in a pile were fourteen bodies, stripped of all clothing but their underclothes."

"Some of them were punctured with many holes, while without exception the features were so disfigured by close shooting that identification was difficult. Without speech we ran for blankets to carry the dead into the car."

"We got to Santa Ysabel about 9 o'clock that night, to find all wires down. We feared that the cut by Villa, who might be planning an attack upon us. We had a consultation, and finally secured permission to proceed to Chihuahua City, where early in the morning a committee took charge of the bodies."

RAILROAD RUIN BIGGEST ISSUE MEXICO FACES

Reconstruction Is Impossible
Without Them, but Risk
Bars Rebuilding.

ARTICLE VII.

BY MARK S. WATSON.

(Copyright, 1916, by The Chicago Tribune and New York Sun.)

To him who knows the enormous pains taken in the construction of the Mexican railways and the dominant role the admirably constructed and equipped traffic arteries played in the swift development of Mexico's great resources, there is none among the many tragedies of the southern republic more appalling than that of the roads.

Destruction may be said to have started with a comparatively proper motive, the interruption of pursuing troop movements. This swiftly gave way to the program of destroying whatever belonged to the hostile government, and this last gave way long ago to destruction for its own sake.

An army officer who had a few hours before seized an automobile by his military authority, and used it for the most outrageous sort of Bacchanalian revel, assured an American friend that whereas the other faction was made up of bandits, his faction was inspired in all it did by the "high ideals of revolution."

The same high ideals have inspired the demolition of the roads. Witness the wrecking and burning of passenger trains in tunnels, the looting of a passenger train on the grade of the Vera Cruz line and allowing it to plunge downward to disaster, the fendish murder of innocents and the burning of such of the baggage and freight as was not wished, in addition to the irreplaceable and invaluable rolling stock.

600 Locomotives Ruined.
Of the 729 locomotives of the National railways, 128 are still usable and ninety are under repair. Of the 18,492 freight cars only 3,400 are known to be still hanging together. Of the Mexican railway (Vera Cruz line) equipment, seven of the mountain locomotives out of twenty-nine are in service, and a like number of the seventy used for level haul.

The fine sleeping cars, built especially for the tropics, with extra wide bodies and cold air compartments in the roof, have been taken down as private cars for the generals, but two remaining for business. Certainly not more than a third of the 107 locomotives and 1,632 cars of the Inter-oceanic, with its subsidiaries, the Mexican Eastern and Mexican Southern, remain.

The railroad revenues which had been growing rapidly under the Mexican development, and which generally had been turned back into properties instead of being distributed as dividends, began to dwindle when the revolution started. The complete disaster did not come, however, until the properties were taken over by the government, and the patriots (obeying) were put in charge.

Charge Big Loss to U. S.
The Inter-oceanic was largely English owned. When the holders of the $12,250,000 and 4 1/2 per cent debentures were forced under moratorium to get along without their interest, it was on the ground that $600,000 of the loss could be charged to the American occupation of Vera Cruz, or rather the reprisals which accompanied it. This is one of the interesting claims which the United States must fight.

The loss to the National system, built by American capital, is vastly heavier, because there was more to be damaged. Its trackage covered 11,416 miles, or 7,093 miles. Its property investment was $27,622,185 pesos, or $413,000,000 United States gold. With the present depreciated currency the investment amounts to 6,000,000,000 pesos, and the damage done, theoretically, the Mexican government must reimburse. That job would tax even the Mexican money printing presses, but the situation is worse, for equipment dealers and builders insist on having money which is negotiable.

Loss to Yankees Heavy.
The loss to holders of $400,000,000 of securities (United States currency) is impossible to gauge. Net earnings had been running at $12,000,000 (United States) a year, and this has been entirely lost, and the road and its subsidiaries of industries. A cash output is necessary for the notes issued to pay bond interest, the whole amounting already to $15,000,000 United States gold.

If business could now be resumed, over tracks in perfect condition, with equipment in perfect condition, and with normal business assured—none of which is possible—the old rates would have to be increased, by 600 per cent, as a result of the collapse of exchange, merely to pay expenses.

As to actual property loss, the most conservative estimate by railroad experts is $50,000,000 United States gold, or at present nearly a billion pesos. Or, this, the damage to the National was about 63 per cent.

Two-thirds of the fleet must be replaced over the 7,000 miles. Practically 100 per

FAKE ORDERS BRING LOSSES TO BROKERS IN NEW YORK.
Some One Plays Trick Over Phone and Leaves Several Houses to Hold the Bag.

New York, Jan. 13.—(Special.)—Some one or several of the thousands of persons who yearn for a rise in Midvale Steel and Ordnance stock played a trick on stock exchange houses today. Without even showing a cent they got brokers to execute orders which resulted in losses of thousands of dollars. Detectives employed by the stock exchange are looking for the guilty person or persons.

The perpetrators of the fraud did little more than dangle commissions before the brokers' eyes. From various places up and down the coast, they telephoned orders for the purchase of Midvale, explaining they would make checks, which would be found in the late afternoon or morning mail. The brokers asked for references. The references were supplied.

It was estimated that the aggregate amount of business exceeded 20,000 shares. The houses which executed the orders had several thousand shares on their hands at the close of business and the stock declined from 7 1/2 to 7 1/8. Officers of the exchange insisted that the guilty persons would be prosecuted.

Yet Roads Must Resume.
At best the railway situation is desperate. And yet until the railways resume, the country cannot resume. Until industries resume wages cannot, and until wages return the lot of the Mexican people remains a sorry one. Starvation will return, but because there is no money to buy food and because there is a food shortage. A further reason is that the railway equipment is not sufficient to bring food into important centers in adequate quantity.

And again, until industries resume government revenues will continue low, and the government never had need of money than today.

U. S. TO GUIDE TORPEDOES FROM AEROS BY WIRELESS.

Hammond Patents, Which Congress Is Asked to Buy, Include New Defense Scheme.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—Wireless control from an aeroplane of a coast defense torpedo has been developed. It was learned today, and patents for the scheme are included in the Hammond radio controlled torpedo rights, for the purchase of which the navy department has asked congress to appropriate nearly $1,000,000.

Aeroplane control, navy officers explained, makes it possible for the operator to guide the radio torpedo through the water from any height, air bubbles from the compressed air motor of the torpedo giving him a certain guide by which to steer it against a ship's hull. By use of powerful glasses it has been possible heretofore to control the torpedo from shore to a distance of nearly 10,000 yards, but the aeroplane device now will make the missile effective to the full range of its motor capacity, or even far at sea if the torpedo is launched from a swift motor boat within sight of an enemy ship.

The Hammond plans are now before the house fortifications committee, which continued today its detailed consideration of the proposal to spend more than $800,000 on improving the coast defenses within the next four years.

BRYAN PRAISES WILSON'S STAND IN MEXICO CASE

Commoner Says That President
Has Done Right to Oppose Intervention.

Miami, Fla., Jan. 13.—William J. Bryan, discussing the massacre in Mexico, said today:

"The demand for intervention in Mexico is in harmony with the general policy pursued by the jingoes. They want war with somebody and seize upon the first excuse to call for war."

"I heartily commend the stand which the president is reported to have taken against intervention. I believe that in taking this position he represents the views of a large majority of the American people. Carranza has been recognized and will doubtless do his best to capture and punish those guilty of murdering Americans and other foreigners."

"There is no need for intervention and this country cannot intervene without losing all that has been gained in Latin America during the last half century."

If intervention was entered upon the jingoes who are now demanding it would demand annexation and we would be under suspicion until our forces were withdrawn."

PEACE AT ANY PRICE
DATES BACK TO 1776.

Prof. Shephardson Tells of Troubles
Washington Had to Contend
With in Revolutionary Days.

Peace at any price people are not a product of this age alone. Prof. Francis Wayland Shephardson of the University of Chicago described how near they came, late in 1776, to spilling the career of the Sons of the American Revolution, at a meeting of that organization last night at the Union League club.

"It was the peace at any price man," said Prof. Shephardson, "who signed the agreement brought to this country by Lord Howe that the king would pardon all who went back to the allegiance to England."

"At a critical time in the revolution Washington had to contend with these men who never thought of justice or right or national honor, who wanted peace in order not to be inconvenienced."

The society adopted resolutions indorsing preparedness.

WILSON STANDS PAT ON MEXICO; NOT TO USE ARMY
Says Murdered Americans Were Told of Bandit Danger; Issues New Warning.

ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—(Special.)—President Wilson today issued a warning to Americans in Mexico that they were to stand pat on his policy of "watchful waiting."

He said that the American citizens in Mexico were to be warned that they were to stand pat on his policy of "watchful waiting."

A LARGE ORDER.

quarters that American consuls generally throughout Mexico have been asked to report on the various measures which the Carranza authorities have taken for the protection of foreigners, the fact developed tonight that these inquiries have not been extended to the headquarters of Gen. Obregon, Carranza's military commander in Chihuahua, for the reasons there are at present no American consuls in Chihuahua south of Juarez.

Efforts to learn how the department is proceeding to determine the liability of the Carranza authorities for the protection of the Americans massacred developed the fact that so far this investigation has not proceeded beyond the collection of gossip which the American consul at Juarez is able to gather. This gossip, department officials admitted, they are not inclined to regard as particularly reliable.

Mr. Trigger Situation.
A half trigger situation in Congress, said a Republican member of the Senate foreign relations committee, if the Carranza government should attempt to force an army into Mexico, it would be a half trigger situation.

Americans Again Warned.
The adoption of such a policy, however, would be a half trigger situation, he said. He said that the Carranza government would be a half trigger situation.

Keep Out of Mexico.
The warning is not intended to cover all of Mexico, he said. He said that the Carranza government would be a half trigger situation.

Urges Extension for Year of Canadian Parliament.
Governor General Opens Session by Advising Against General Election—Fraises Dominion's Troops.

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 12.—The Duke of Connaught, governor general of Canada, in his address at the opening of the Canadian parliament today, strongly recommended that the life of the present parliament be extended for one year in order to avoid a general election and "best meet present requirements of the war."

The call to service has evoked a widespread and notable response in Canada, he said. He said that the Carranza government would be a half trigger situation.

Invited to Their Death?
Ambassador Shepard sent to the White House a telegram he had received from the Carranza government, he said. He said that the Carranza government would be a half trigger situation.

CALL ON WILSON TO CURB MEXICO; BORDER ROILED

Senate and House Resolutions Would Give Him Power to Use Force of Arms.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—(Special.)—Congress today waited patiently for some indication from the administration that it intends to act for the protection of Americans in Mexico.

That it must wait much longer, but will proceed to bring about a change in the president's policy of watchful waiting, was indicated by the introduction of resolutions by Senator Lewis of Illinois and Representative Mose of West Virginia directing him to use the armed forces of the United States.

Also Representative Starnes of Texas, Democrat, representing a border district, announced that the patience of the people along the border has been exhausted. Mr. Starnes predicted that if something is not done immediately they will take matters into their own hands.

Cites Wilson's Inconsistency.
Senator Lewis' reference in his resolution to the use of armed forces in Haiti, which was followed by a resolution of the House, was pointed out by Mr. Starnes as an inconsistency.

Representative Mose of West Virginia, in his resolution in the house, asserted that the president had tolerated the outrages in Mexico wholly for the political effect of attempting to convince the people he had preserved peace, although he had actually committed an act of war when he sent the navy to Vera Cruz and followed it up by ordering Punston's army there to occupy the city.

Time for Action at Hand.
Representative Starnes' speech was of the same tenor as that delivered in the Senate by Senator Borah of Idaho yesterday, although the Texas congressman did not advocate immediate intervention. He served notice on the administration that the time has come for action, however, either by this government or the Carranza government, to end the abuse of Americans.

Believed in President.
Since the troubles began, Mr. Starnes said, he had tried to do his duty as a citizen and representative in Congress by keeping quiet and leaving the whole matter in the hands of the president and the secretary of state.

Not a Minute to Spare.
"I have been silent even when I thought serious mistakes were being made," he said, "and have not hesitated to express my approval after the fact, when I thought the right thing had been done. I am not on my feet today for the purpose of criticizing any man. I am venturing to speak a few words today because I feel that it is a duty I owe my state, my section of the state, the people of the border, and my conscience."

Continued Outrages.
"Horror in Mexico are cumulative," Mr. Starnes continued. "Who has forgotten the outrages at Durango, when a city was destroyed; the murders in Cuernavaca, where innocent men, women, and children were shot, burned, and suffocated by a bandit who on the border was known to be a confederate in crime of Carranza, otherwise known as Pancho Villa?"

RESOLUTIONS GIVING PRESIDENT POWER TO ACT IN MEXICO

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 12.—(Special.)—Resolutions empowering President Wilson to use force of arms in Mexico today were introduced in the Senate by Senator Lewis and in the House by Representative Mose.

Resolved by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring, That the president of the United States be authorized and empowered to order the army of the United States or any necessary part thereof to the country of Mexico and to there cooperate with any force there existing which to the president shall seem appropriate for the object of protecting the citizens and property of the United States and to punish those violating the security of its citizens and to authorize the president to use the military and naval forces of the United States in Mexico to the same extent as now by law permitted in the navy in Nicaragua and Haiti for the protection of American rights.

The Mose resolution refers to the many outrages committed against Americans in Mexico "because of the unwillingness or inability of the Carranza government to protect them."

It also asserts the American administration has merely "requested" Carranza to punish those responsible for the murders, and then adds:

"Now, be it therefore resolved, That it is the sense of the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring, that the government of the United States shall forthwith dispatch to Mexico such part of its army and navy as shall be necessary to immediately capture and bring to justice the perpetrators of this latest outrage upon American citizens and to offer sufficient protection to American citizens in Mexico so as to prevent any repetition of such outrages, and that to accomplish this object the United States navy shall occupy the waters adjacent to the coast of Mexico and both remain there until such time as it shall be clearly apparent to the government of the United States that the rights of its citizens in their person and property shall be secure."

Known to be a confederate in crime of Carranza, otherwise known as Pancho Villa?
"Some of you may have forgotten that the particular thief and murderer who executed this horror fled to the United States, where he was arrested and confined in a stockade at Fort Bliss, which is near El Paso."

Many Americans Dead.
"Americans have been murdered singly and in squads. They have been shot when going peacefully about their business in Mexico and even on their own territory. They have mysteriously disappeared and never been heard of again. Those of us who live on or near the border have a distinct idea of their fate."

They have even invaded our territory under military command and with a semblance of organization, killing American citizens and stealing their property."

The people of the border, asserted the congressman, have been patient under an unparalleled series of outrages.

"They do not want war with Mexico," he declared, "but they do want security for their lives and property. Their patience is now exhausted, and if some relief, absolute, reliable and continued, is not quickly given them they may not always remain patient."

HOLLWEG OPENS REICHSTAG WITH 'VICTORY' SPEECH

Talks of Sacrifices Which Will Be Needed "After the War Has Been Won."

BERLIN, Jan. 13.—[By Wire.]—After divine services in the Protestant cathedral and in the Catholic Church of St. Hedwig, Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the Prussian prime minister, opened today the new session of the Prussian parliament.

He read the speech from the throne in the traditional white hall of the castle, members of both houses of the Prussian parliament, as well as the diplomats being present.

In the speech Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg first recalled the fact that at present a sanguinary conflict is going on in wide battlefields.

"An our enemies forced the war upon us," he said, "they must also bear the guilt of the responsibility for the nations of Europe continue to inflict wounds upon one another."

The prime minister said that Germany's enemies had planned to demolish her by cutting her off from the transatlantic world, but that this had failed.

Crops Will Save Germany. "Our agriculture," he added, "assures the sustenance of the nation. Relying on our own strength, on our industries, and on our trade, we can produce what we need for our defense. These maintain the millions of workers who have remained at home and they maintain our economic life in spite of the war. But above all things are the deeds of the nation in arms, filled with ineffable grandeur and heroism."

Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg insisted on the fact that Germany, together with her faithful allies, not only resisted a world of enemies but carried her flag into the enemies' countries. He continued:

"We are, and always will be, proud, together with our other German brethren, that the old Prussian spirit has shown its imperishable vitality and has added new immortal glory to the heroic deeds of our fathers and ancestors. Together with our king and emperor we march toward the turning of the road sure of victory. One thought fills us, to give all until the very last depths of the nation's power for the life and safety of the nation."

Asks Further Sacrifice. In concluding Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg said:

"To heal the wounds that have been inflicted, to make life grow out of the gigantic deeds and sacrifices of the nation, will be the task of all of us as soon as a victorious peace has been won. Prussia has grown great surrounded by storm, and she stands today unshaken in the midst of the storm. What her enemies call coercion is nothing but liberty based on order. The ties which unite Prussians have been forced to grow, if possible, stronger by these times of struggle and victory. God save Prussia and her empire and protect her as a strong support of the German empire. This is our trust and we shall continue our just fight until a good end."

The prime minister then announced that a bill will be presented increasing the income tax, as an increase of the state's receipts had become necessary. He conveyed the thanks of the king and emperor to those not only in Germany but also outside its boundaries who had contributed funds for this purpose. He added that new means will also be necessary to complete the net of Prussian railroads.

DR. LIEBKNECHT EXPELLED BY GERMAN SOCIALISTS.

"Continuous Gross Infractions of Party Discipline" Given as Cause—Convention Off?

BERLIN, Jan. 13.—[By wire.]—By a vote of 60 to 25 the Socialist caucus has expelled from membership in the Socialist party Dr. Karl Liebknecht for "continuous gross infractions of party discipline." The Overseas News agency announced today.

"The Socialist parliamentary committee has elected Friedrich Ebert in place of Hugo Haase, who has resigned and left the committee."

"The Socialist newspapers are discussing the question of whether another convention of the party shall be called. The majority of the papers consider the time inopportune."

MINERS' FEDERATION VOTES TO OPPOSE CONSCRIPTION.

Decision at London Meeting Is Unanimous—Will Await Government Action.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—The Miners' Federation of Great Britain, meeting in London today, resolved unanimously to oppose the bill for compulsory military service. The federation empowered its president to call a further conference, in the event the bill becomes a law, to consider what additional steps should be taken.

WHY NOT AMERICA DISARM? CHINA FURNISHES ANSWER.

BY CAPT. HENRY J. REILLY. All questions having to do with military or naval affairs will be answered in this column or, space lacking, by mail, provided a stamped envelope is sent.

A. D. F. writes: "Why should we not set an example to the world at the present time by disarming, rather than arming, and thereby showing our abhorrence of the barbarism broken loose amongst the people of Europe, whom we formerly considered so civilized?"

REPLY. If we want to follow the example of China we can do so as we please. China has a population of approximately 400,000,000. She has resources of every kind. If she had prepared for war she would be so strong that not only could she single nations afford to attack her, but even several world hostilities.

China, however, has not chosen to be prepared. She has chosen, on the whole, the line of peaceful resistance. The result is that not only has she lost considerable amount of her existing territory, but is constantly having her home affairs seriously interfered with by foreign nations.

Had we followed the same course some years ago, when a number of Italians were murdered by a mob in New Orleans, and our government refused proper reparation, Italy could have seized and occupied New Orleans, and gradually, by means of railway and trade concessions, obtained control of most of Louisiana.

This was practically what happened when Germany seized Tientsin, and gradually got control of most of Shantung province. Since then Japan, against China's protest, has added troops to Chinese territory and seized Tientsin. Following the analogy, had Italy seized New Orleans we might have protested as much as we pleased, but could not have prevented those troops from staying there.

Had we no power to resist, the Japanese interests in California, Washington, and Oregon would grow until she had an excuse to virtually occupy these states. Then, if Canada backed up by the British empire, objected to such occupancy as a menace to Canada, in the same way that Japan objected to Russia's entry into Korea, we would have to witness the spectacle of Canadian and Japanese fighting on our soil for part of our country and without reference to our wishes. From time to time France has found it convenient and necessary to annex parts of southern China. In the same way, Great Britain might find it convenient to annex Malacca, and later New Hampshire and Vermont, and, in time, Massachusetts, Connecticut, and Rhode Island. Suggesting that such things might happen to the United States seems absurd, but they are not. China has superior potential resources to those of the United States. Their possession has not prevented her policy of pacifism from putting her in her present hopeless condition. There is no reason why the great powers of the earth should be any kinder to us than to China. There is probably less reason, because by nature we are an aggressive people, who continue hostile, while the Chinese are not.

D. R. writes: "Ex-attached, in his writing about the war, says that the Russians have invaded Bulgaria. Will you please tell me when the invasion took place, and in what part of Bulgaria?"

REPLY. For the last few weeks, there have been constant rumors of a Russian invasion of Bulgaria, either by way of Roumania or else by landing at one of the Black sea ports in Bulgaria. These rumors generally come from London or Rome. It is pretty well established that the Russians did not intend to cross the border. No such attempt has been made. While Russian ships have apparently, on several occasions, bombarded Bulgarian Black sea ports, there is not the slightest evidence that troops have actually been landed. The indications are that no enemy has his foot on any part of Bulgaria's soil.

K. E. C. writes: "I see that you are interested in hearing from those who would like to get military training, but do not know how to go about it, and do not wish to give up business in order to go into the regular service."

REPLY. The best method for a person in your circumstances would be to enter some national guard organization within the city. If only interested in infantry work, any one of the several regiments in the city will give you the physical examination. If interested in mounted work, there is the First Illinois cavalry, most of which is in the city. If interested in artillery, there are three batteries, B, D, and E, in the city. The last two recently organized. All national guard organizations are glad to get men who have a real interest in military affairs.

Montenegro Quits Fight. Armistice Ends Resistance; Italy Loses Hope of Ruling Adriatic.

a dispatch to L'Ouvreur under Tuesday's date.

The correspondent, telegraphing from Scutari, says that the Montenegrins, aided by Serbian contingents, are making a stout resistance, although outnumbered five to one.

In view of the success of the Austrian offensive against Mount Lovcen, measures have been taken by the Montenegrin government to evacuate Cetinje immediately, according to a Scutari dispatch, says the Petit Journal's Milan correspondent. The government, however, has decided to continue the struggle against the Austrians, the dispatch adds.

Italy Realizes Peril. "The news of the fall of Mount Lovcen arrived at a time when Albanian affairs were being heatedly discussed in political circles as the result of an article by Deputy Andrea Torre in the Corriere Della Sera," says a dispatch to the Journal from Rome.

"The article was to the effect that Austria always aimed at northern Albania, while Bulgaria also desired Albania, being unable to get Kavala."

"Deputy Torre, in his article, said it was necessary to ask if the intents in general and Italy in particular had considered this part of the Teutonic allies' program."

"It cannot be denied that the fall of Mount Lovcen has made a painful impression in Italy, the more so as Italy had frequently declared she would not tolerate the occupation of Lovcen by the Austrians in view of the strategic importance of that position."

AID NATIONAL RED CROSS, GEN. WOOD URGES WOMEN. Also Endorses Proposed Elective Course in Military Training for University of Pennsylvania.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 13.—Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, commander of the department of the east, was the principal speaker at a mass meeting here today under the auspices of the Pennsylvania Women's division for national preparedness.

Gen. Wood urged his large audience of women to assist in the national Red Cross society, which, he said, is undergoing a radical reorganization. He also endorsed the proposition that an elective course in military science be instituted at the University of Pennsylvania.

"In organizing this way we are not only preparing for possible war," Gen. Wood said, "but we are organizing the industrial energies of the country for any disturbance."

BRITAIN LOSES FOUR AIR CREWS ON WEST FRONT

German Filers and Guns Bring Down Machines; Minor Attacks Reported.

Berlin reports four British aeroplanes shot down on the western fronts and the repulse of French attacks. Britain reports four aviators missing and German attacks repelled. Paris reports successful artillery and mining actions.

BRITISH WAR REPORT. LONDON, Jan. 13.—The official announcement given out tonight says: Last night the enemy exploded a mine near Givenchy, following up the explosion by a bombing attack, which was driven back. Today there has been some hostile shelling about Givenchy, but on the whole it was quieter than usual along the entire front. Four of our aeroplanes sent out yesterday have not returned.

French Official Statement. PARIS, Jan. 13.—The following official communication was issued by the war office tonight:

In Artois we executed on the positions along the road to Lille a violent bombardment that destroyed at several points the trenches and shelters of the enemy. Between the Somme and the Oise a German column, estimated at one regiment, was taken under our fire at the moment of entering Roye.

To the north of the Aisne our artillery damaged an observatory and some machine gun shelters and silenced an enemy battery at Hill 105 on the plateau of Valenciennes. In the Champagne we destroyed a large convoy in the region of Grauloy. In the Argonne we exploded one mine at La Motte and two at Vauquois.

German War Report. BERLIN, Jan. 13.—The war office tonight gave out the following report on western front operations:

Northwest of Arras a detachment by a strong British detachment was repelled. Early this morning the French renewed their attacks in the Champagne. An attempted advance northeast of Lennesail was repelled. An attack against a portion of the trenches captured by the Germans on Jan. 9 near Maisons de Champagne also failed.

Leists, Beelke and Immanuel each shot down a British aeroplane, one northeast of Tournai, the other near Bapaume. A third British aeroplane was shot down in an aerial fight near Roubais, and a fourth was brought down by our defense guns near Ligny, northwest of Lille. Of the eight British officers on the four aeroplanes six were killed and two wounded.

CHARGES ENLISTMENT PLOT TO EMBROIL BRITAIN AND U.S. Spring-Rice Disclaims Responsibility for Communications from Canadian Source.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—What British officials characterize as a plan to entangle them in complications over enlistments of Americans was reported today to the state department by the British embassy.

It was said a large number of letters from a fictitious address in Toronto, Canada, purporting to be signed by a major in the British army, have been mailed to Americans in the United States, urging them to enlist in the British army.

Sir Cecil Spring-Rice today told Secretary Lansing the British authorities disclaimed any responsibility for the communications.

LET LINER SAIL LIGHTLY ARMED

Federal Permission Granted to Giuseppe Verde at New York.

GUNS ARE FOR DEFENSE

New York, Jan. 13.—The Italian liner Giuseppe Verdi, with about 600 passengers, sailed for Naples late today with her two three inch guns still mounted on her after deck. She was permitted to clear on the receipt of assurances that the pieces are to be used only for defense.

Word came from Washington today to the collector of the port, Dudley Field Malone, that the Italian government had given such assurances. The state department asked Italy either to dismount the Verdi's guns or give a pledge that they would be used only for defense. The Italian government chose the latter course.

British Ships Dismount Guns. The state department has not contended that it had any right to deny admission to American ports to a merchant ship armed ostensibly for defense, but announced at the outset of the war that it preferred that no armed ships of that class should come in American waters. British ships dismounted guns.

In an announcement early in the war the state department held a gun less than six inches in caliber mounted well aft would not be considered as changing the character of a merchant ship.

No Warning Given Glenlye. LONDON, Jan. 13.—The British steamship Glenlye, sunk in the Mediterranean Jan. 2, was torpedoed without warning, according to a Havre dispatch today from Marseilles.

The same dispatch reports that the steamer Tania arrived at Marseilles from Philippeville, escaped for the second time from a submarine by speed and cleverness.

Capt. Chester of the Glenlye and twenty men of the crew were picked up by the steamer Mosou, the dispatch adds, while three Englishmen of the crew and seven Chinese were lost.

The Dutch steamer Maashaven of 2,900 tons, bound from Norfolk to Rotterdam, has struck a mine, according to a wireless message. The crew is reported to have abandoned the vessel, which was still aloft with her forecastle ablaze.

Surprised at Grey's Admission. BERLIN, Jan. 13.—[By Wire.]—Referring to the publication by the British government of a paper regarding the Baralong charges, the Neue Zuercher Zeitung says that "Sir Edward Grey does not deny what we could not believe until now. It is that twelve surviving sailors of the submarine, which had been destroyed as a result of the fact that the Baralong flew a false flag, were shot down after offering to surrender."

Minor Clashes Continue on Eastern Battle Line. Russian Report Slight Gains and Repulse of Attacks—Tentative Denial of Ground.

PETROGRAD, Jan. 13.—The Russian official communication issued today follows:

On the middle Stripa river the enemy, under the protection of a snowstorm, made two attempts to take the offensive in the region of Dobruja, but each time was repulsed. In this region and northeast of Cernowitz the enemy was forced to evacuate part of his trenches, which we occupied.

German War Office Report. VIENNA, Jan. 13.—The Austro-Hungarian war office today issued the following official statement:

On the east Galicia and Bessarabia fronts there have been only isolated artillery duels. The Austro-Hungarian, contrary to the assertions of the Russians, still occupy the same positions east of the Stripa river, on the Bessarabian front, as during the Christmas offensive, the only exception being the section of one battalion, which was taken back 200 paces.

Austrian Official Statement. BERLIN, Jan. 13.—The German war office today issued the following official statement:

Detachments of German patrols fought successful engagements at several places. Near Novo Bykovo, between the Ofjankto and the Berestka, the Russians were ejected from their advanced trenches.

SLAVS DESTROY TURK SHIPS. LONDON, Jan. 13.—A dispatch to Reuters' Telegram company from Petrograd says that Russian torpedo boats on Monday destroyed a Turkish submarine that had grounded in December near the mouth of the Milen. Two Turkish sailing ships with coal also were destroyed.

They got the facts

They know the Royal

COMPARE the work done on the Royal Typewriter—put it to the deciding test of actual results.

Compare the ease with which the work is done—because of the personal-touch adjustment.

Compare the perfect presswork insured by Royal construction.

Compare the appearance of the work—the clean, clear, legible letters, the exact correct lines.

Compare the increased efficiency of the operator—because more work and better work is done with less effort.

Compare the time saved by the operator through the mechanical responsiveness of the Royal.

Compare the money saved through the ending of excessive repairs—the money saved because the Royal doesn't have to be "laid off."

Compare the life of the Royal—the long life built into it because it is invented, designed and built to be a true visible typewriter in construction as well as in operation.

Compare the greater value of your investment in the Royal—the enduring value in a machine which is not built to be sold with the understanding that it will have to be "traded-out" in two or three years.

Compare the simplicity of the Royal—a typewriter which writes, which bills and charges, which types cards for index or file, without a single extra attachment.

Compare the record of the Royal—thousands upon thousands of earlier models in constant use today after many years of service and still giving satisfaction.

Get the facts. Know the Royal. Telephone or write for a demonstration now. This places you under no obligation and helps you to "compare the work" in your own surroundings and your own working conditions.

"Our Country! In her intercourse with foreign nations may she always be in the right; but our country, right or wrong."
—Stephen Decatur.

PREPARE OR DISARM.

It is reported that Representative Hay has broken with the president on defense plans and will oppose measures of the army.

This would be quite consistent with the record of Hay, who has had more to do with blocking inefficient measures for the betterment of the national land defense than any man in congress.

What should be impressed upon the country at this time is that Hay, in spite of his record, was put at the head of the military affairs committee of the house, where he could do the maximum of harm, by the Democratic organization and presumably without energetic protest from the president. His inability and unwillingness to deal fairly and competently with the urgent problems it is the duty of his committee to consider and legislate upon are notorious, yet he was returned to his chairmanship deliberately and in the face of the demand of the nation for adequate measures for the strengthening of the national defense.

That offense is chargeable directly to the leaders of the Democratic organization, although we are confident the overwhelming majority of the rank and file of the party favor adequate defense and the substantial increase of both army and navy.

It is time for the Democrats to get rid of Hay unless they intend to espouse the cause of unpreparedness. He represents the worst type, for it presents a false front.

If we are to be a nonviolent nation, let us admit it and junk the navy, disband the army, and make ready to turn the other cheek.

If not, let us deal with defense honestly and with knowledge and determination.

A MAGAZINE TO BE WELCOMED.

The first number of a new magazine, the Military Historian and Economist, edited by A. L. Conger and H. M. Johnston, has just issued from the Harvard University Press. "We believe," the editor writes, "that there almost inevitably arises from the clash of conflicting economic interests, a fact somewhat neglected hitherto both in theoretical literature and in the actual conduct of war." The magazine consequently will stress the economic factors of international disputes.

This sort of journal will fill a need in the United States. Prof. Johnston is one of the ablest and soundest thinkers on war in this country. With him are allied other experts. From the material in the first number it may be judged that America has now a military and economic magazine which will be able to interpret international events and our own past history in terms of enlightened Americanism.

If its publication is an indication that Americans are beginning to think in terms wider than the county in which they live its appearance should be the signal for special rejoicing.

PAN-AMERICAN ALLIANCE.

The president's recent proposals for a pan-American alliance ought to be one of the chief subjects of consideration at this session of congress. Their consideration should not be evaded or delayed. When the chief executive puts forth so far-reaching a program and urges so striking a departure from our tradition of isolation congress cannot afford to let the impression go forth to the world that the president speaks for the nation, unless congress is ready to accept the proposals and proceed to put them into effect. Of course, congress is not ready. It could not properly enter into so revolutionary an enterprise until full discussion had taken place and something in the nature of a mandate obtained from the people.

But a debate in congress would stimulate public consideration of our relations with Latin America, and would serve also to remind foreign governments and peoples that pan-Americanism, in the form of an alliance, at least, is not yet a North Americanism.

Indeed, most Americans who have given any attention to the people and responsibilities of alliances, especially those there are a few, who have realized the differences between Latin America and North America, their peoples, their history, their economic conditions, their social characters, their codes, ideals, sentiments, will need a great deal more than the president's amiable generalizations to convince them to an all-American alliance.

Mr. Wilson's disposition, if we may infer such a disposition from his utterances on our relations with the outside world, seems to be to make our foreign policy primarily altruistic. From this point of view an alliance of the United States with all South and Central America is explainable. But if we are to consider our own interests and our own safety we shall not enter into any such guaranty, as he ardently urges without a more substantial gold ore than is to be found on the surface of his program.

If Mr. Wilson thinks such an alliance can be anything but a fraud without an enormous expansion of our navy and army, he is indulging in self-deception to a degree we had thought only Mr. Bryan and his school of pacifists could be capable of. If he is willing to involve us in and commit us to the complications which the development of all South American states is certain to create for generations to come he has lost his mind and more unalarming optimism than any previous American statesman.

to put forth the tremendous project of a pan-American alliance. Certainly we need to reexamine the possibilities of our relations with Latin America. But not in the mood of inexpensive altruism which seems to take possession of some of our leading men when they discuss the nation's foreign policy. An alliance so wide in its scope, so heterogeneous in its composition, so serious in its commitments, as we feel confident, unlikely of acceptance by American opinion until its advantages become more evident and its perils and burdens less evident than they now appear.

WHAT IS NEEDED IN MEXICO.

We suspect that the American error with regard to Mexico has been one of enlargement of difficulties. A generous humanitarianism in the first place conceived the possibility of a self-governing Mexican democracy, although knowing that Mexico was a three layer cake without the second layer, a thin coating of aristocracy imposed upon a thick layer of ignorance without the sustaining inner layer of a self-respecting, self-sustaining middle class.

We not only got this idea but we got the idea that intervention to close the books of the miserable republic would be enormously costly. That, in fact, was what made this nation hesitate. The thought of good American lives being spent in the conquest of Mexico was abhorrent.

We have consulted timidity and have been given its consequences. If this nation were anything like it ought to be Mexico would be subservient to its impulses or it would cease to exist. A competent nation could go through Mexico like a whirlwind.

That poor, miserable little wailing of a nation has asked the United States to stand tolerant of the atrocious it commits or endure its wrath—and we have been afraid. That is the true and simple statement of facts.

Mexicans are capable of submitting to government. They are not capable of making government. That has to be made for them. It is no use to consult the fancies of what democracy ought to be. It is to the purpose only to ask what Mexico is.

The Cubans are altogether a better human breed than the Mexicans and yet we recognize that Cuba can govern itself only under restrictions—that if it does not behave it will have armed forces of the United States on the island to see that it does behave. And Cuba is comparatively quiet and comparatively inoffensive.

We have consulted a policy of timidity with regard to Mexico and are paying for it. There was a time when the Mexicans, although they despised Americans, feared Texas. The Texans were Americans of a different breed. They resented injury and they resented it quickly and they made it costly.

The truth is that we have few doubts as to what our duty is regarding Mexico but many as to our ability to perform that duty. The predominant doubt is our disgrace and affords Mexico its opportunity.

Either Germany or Japan would reduce Mexico to civility and decency with so little loss that it would be inconceivable. The idea that a rich, powerful nation must submit to the disorderly conduct of a country such as Mexico is purely American and the idea that the cost of eradicating this nuisance must prevent the undertaking of the enterprise is also American.

The United States ought to be able to smother this Mexican nation so that from the first blow it would be unable to make effective resistance. It ought, with its wealth and power, be able to march from the Rio Grande to Central America. If need be, without losing two men to a company from other than natural causes. It would be so able if it had a sufficient military establishment, one ordered by other than politicians. And if it had such an establishment the Mexicans would be our civil and well disposed neighbors, scrupulously conducting themselves with regard to Americans and orderly conducting themselves with regard to each other.

Even now we overestimate the difficulties of bringing the Mexicans to a sense of responsibility. With our small military establishment we could make the fear of punishment strike into the consciousness of the Mexicans so that an American would be safe for the next 100 years even if he wanted to sleep in the place of any town or in the desert.

We know that the United States is not an arrogant power. It is not in its composition to be such a power. But why need it be a weakling? A demonstration of strength compatible even with the resources of this nation would soon make an American safe anywhere in Mexico.

Editorial of the Day.

THE PAROLE SYSTEM AND CRIME.

FROM JOURNAL OF CRIMINAL LAW AND CRIMINOLOGY.
In view of the agitation versus parole in Illinois that threatens a formal recommendation to the next session of the state legislature for the repeal of the parole law, it is pertinent to recall that this agitation is an annual event. There is no reason to believe that the situation today is different from that which obtained a year ago. At that time a few Cook county officials hysterically leaped at the conclusion that the crime wave of a year ago was traceable to paroled prisoners. This was based upon a few isolated facts which judicially minded state attorneys and judges would not accept as evidence sufficient to justify condemnation of the whole system of parole. It is not enough to point to two or three or a half dozen paroled prisoners who are disturbing our peace. Evidence must be as comprehensive as the system of parole itself.

In our editorial published in the Journal in March, 1915, we showed that the parole system, wherever adopted (in more than thirty-two states and in other nations besides), had never been set aside. The mean average number who have made good on parole is 64 per cent of the total number. Most of those who failed were shortcoming on minor points. They had failed to report punctually to their officers; had left their employment or had moved away from the county or the state in which they were paroled. Those who actually committed new crimes while on parole were:

In California, during 1909-1913, 74, or 2.3 per cent of the total parole.
In Canada, during 1899-1913, 145, or 2.3 per cent of the total parole.
In Canada, during 1912-13, 21, or 2.3 per cent of the total parole.
In Illinois (Joliet), during 1905-1912, 464, or 4.4 per cent of the total parole.
In Michigan, during 1911-1912, 72, or 6.3 per cent of the total parole.
In New York (Elmira), during 1908-1912, 4, or 6.2 per cent of the total parole.
The foregoing figures are a very strong indication that the charges of inefficiency so frequently made against the parole system are irresponsible statements. They will not go far with thoughtful people.

JAPAN GAINING STRENGTH WHILE EUROPE FIGHTS

Writer Says War Leaves Nippon Free to Make Position Secure in the Far East.

BY OSCAR KING DAVIS.

SHANGHAI, China, Dec. 4.—It may be that there are places in the arctic or antarctic regions, or perhaps among the smaller islands of the south sea, where the war in Europe has not had a blasting effect, and where it is not the overbearing and absorbing subject of conversation. There may be contented and happy individuals in the remote regions of central Asia who have never even heard of the war. But there can be no question as to its disturbing effect upon the minds and occupations of the people all along this great stretch of Pacific coast, from the northernmost corner of Japan to the tip of the Malay peninsula.

Japan was hit hard at first, and there was great walling and depression, especially in the coast ports. There was much the same immediate effect upon Japan's silk trade that there was upon the American cotton trade. Silk is one of the chief industries in Japan, and the sudden closing of the European markets produced a great hardship upon a large industry.

Commerce at First Affected. In other ways, also, Japanese commerce was affected, and the local curio trade was almost at a standstill for a good many months. The tourist business had been a very important factor in several ways, and it was brought practically to a standstill, for the chief part of Japan's tourist business was with travelers making the trip around the world. Of course this world grinding travel ended with the outbreak of the war, and loud complaints from Japan naturally followed.

But that depression has disappeared now, and Japan is prosperous and happy again. And her new prosperity is due largely to the war.

The silk trade has revived, and the European markets are again taking a large part of the customary supply, while the American market is taking increased quantities. The tourist business has not recovered, but there are very minor matters compared with the very large new business in arms and munitions and general war supplies.

Sees Big Profit in Supplies. The Japanese government spent something on its small participation in the war and the capture of Tsingtau. But it has already profited by that capture, and its ultimate profit will be immeasurably greater.

It is in the business of furnishing war supplies that the Japanese are finding their new prosperity. Six or eight months ago there was evident depression and stagnation all over Japan. Today almost every village, one passes on a railway journey from Shimonoseki to Tokyo shows from two to half a dozen busy factories with clouds of smoke pouring from their smokestacks.

Money is easy in Japan, and the rate of interest is going down. It is now lower than usual, and capital is available for new enterprises under conditions considerably more favorable than heretofore. Japan is even taking out loans in foreign loans, and its gold balance in London is growing by leaps and bounds.

Chinese Business at Standstill. The war situation in China is not nearly so satisfactory to the Chinese. Here there is no compensation for the disturbance of business that resulted, and which has not yet been overcome. It was the war and the complete absorption of the European powers in it that furnished the opportunity to Japan to undertake her aggression on China of last winter and spring. And it is the war which is giving Japan the further opportunity to complete her domination of China if she wishes.

When the war ends Japan will find herself bettered financially, commercially, and territorially.

HUB GIVES CASH REWARDS TO ITS FAITHFUL WORKERS.

First Retail House in Chicago to Adopt Plan Makes Its Annual Distribution to Employees.

The Hub, Henry C. Lytton & Sons, made its annual cash distribution to its employees last night. This plan of rewarding its employees has been in use for the last twenty years. The Hub was the first retail house in Chicago to inaugurate such a system.

The amounts received by the various employees are based upon a percentage of their yearly salary. A special gift of $500 is given to those who have been in the service twenty years.

The participation begins with the second year and increases annually. All ready eight employees had received the $500 each—Jacob Heilmann, head bookkeeper, and E. C. Monti, one of the head salesmen. Six or eight others will follow along within the next two or three years.

Some Hot Ward Fights. It was decided at the conference, held behind locked doors, that all the members in the new camp should first devote their energies to the defeat of all Thompson-Lundin aldermanic candidates. Five of the wards were particularly threatened.

In the nineteenth the Demos-Went force had themselves to vote for Ald. Kimball, elected as an independent for reelection, and in return the Progressives and Ald. Merriam "covenant" to forget their past prejudices and support Mr. West for national committee.

Kimball is one of the aldermen who refused to vote on all matters in the council with Mayor Thompson. He was early marked for slaughter by the ball.

The Progressives, also, in the ward, which is the home ward of Ald. Merriam, agree to support Isaac N. Powell for ward committeeman against the Thompson-Lundin entry.

Back Dempsey, Ray. In the Twenty-eighth they agree to work hand-in-hand for the reelection of Ald. Dempsey, a Moose. The "Progs" agree to throw all their strength behind Joseph Elias for ward committeeman.

In the Thirtieth the new coalition is to stand solidly behind Ald. Frank H. Ray and the "Progs" bind themselves to support whoever the Demos men trot out for ward committeeman. Ray is one of the aldermen who is persona non grata with the kitchen cabinet at the hall.

He recently told of the alleged threats of the city hall to put him out of business if he didn't perform according to program.

In the Twenty-seventh ward the Demos men agree to support Ald. Watson, independent, for reelection, and the Progs sign up to support whoever Demos picks for ward committeeman. Judge Victor Arnold is the present Demos committeeman, but he will not seek reelection.

When the war ends Japan will find herself bettered financially, commercially, and territorially.

SHERMAN URGES HEAVIER TAXES ON THE WEALTHY

Wants Higher Levy on Larger Incomes and a Federal Inheritance Tax.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—[Special.]—A graduated inheritance tax on large fortunes and an increase of the tax on the incomes of the rich were advocated by Senator Sherman of Illinois today in a notable address delivered in the senate.

The senator, who is a candidate for the Republican nomination for president, attacked the Democratic revenue legislation as a failure in results and inequitable in the burden imposed on the taxpayers. He asserted that the administration now seeks to make the burden more inequitable by extending the income tax to persons of small means without increasing the surtax on large incomes.

Calls Income Tax Unjust.
"The proposal to increase the rates of taxation on individual and corporate incomes," Senator Sherman said, "is made by the secretary of the treasury." The exemptions of $3,000 for single and $4,000 for married persons, he is suggested, could be reduced to $2,000 and $3,000, respectively, without hardship. The surtax, it is further intimated, could begin at $10,000 or $15,000 instead of $20,000, as provided by the present law.

"I am opposed to lowering the exemption below the $5,000 and $4,000 limit. This proposition reaches the bread line or the income required for living necessities. It threatens a tax on earning capacity."

"The spirit of the income law would suggest that the increased revenue be had by not only lowering the limit for the surtax, but raising the rate."

Urges Inheritance Tax.
"Great Britain derives about $225,000,000 annually from inheritance taxes. Nearly all of the nations of continental Europe make this a source of revenue. The wealth of this country is over $187,000,000,000. It is constantly passing by inheritance or will. It is a proper subject for excise taxes. Estates can be classified so that smaller ones will be exempted. Much the same reason ought to pervade an inheritance tax as that found in an income tax. After the living line shall have been passed estates ought to become a source of revenue for the government emergency. The president has already been set in direct taxation by the act of Oct. 22, 1914, recently extended by joint resolution. From $100,000,000 to $100,000,000 can be collected annually from an inheritance tax. An equal division of this with the states would collect from $50,000,000 to $75,000,000 for the government. It is the price the people pay for a Democratic administration."

Sabbath Has a Bill.
Congressman Sabbath of Chicago today introduced an inheritance tax measure in the house. The bill proposes a graduated tax ranging from 1 to 24 per cent, according to the size of the transfer. The measure exempts from taxation all charitable, religious, and educational organizations. Under the terms of the Sabbath bill four classes of persons are specified. The first class includes husband and wife, brother and sister, mother and father, son and daughter; the second includes uncle and aunt, niece and nephew, and near cousins; the third includes distant relatives; and the fourth those not related.

Schedule for Tax Levy.
The scheme on which the tax would be levied follows:

Amount.	Per cent of tax—	Class Class Class
$10,000 to $25,000.....	1	2 3 4
$25,000 to $50,000.....	2	3 4 5 6
$50,000 to $100,000.....	3	4 5 6 7 8

GOVERNOR AND HARRISON BREAK ON POSTMASTERSHIP.

Dunne Wins Senator Lewis to Out E. J. Krueger Off His List Because of Union Ties.

The Chicago postmastership race was further complicated yesterday by a temporary break between Gov. Edward F. Dunne and former Mayor Harrison. Gov. Dunne sent a message to Senator Lewis at Washington telling him to eliminate E. J. Krueger from the list of possibilities. His action was based on protests by organized labor because of Krueger's vote for the Loeb rule on the board of education. The governor was in Chicago attending the funeral of Mrs. Dunne's father.

Charles C. Breyer of the library board and another selection of Mr. Harrison does not meet with the governor's enthusiastic approval either, and he expressed the opinion that Dixon Williams could not be confirmed by the senate if nominated by the president.

The question of the selection of Democratic national delegates will be taken up today at a meeting of the Democratic state committee at the Hotel Sherman.

Gov. Dunne's close friends yesterday let it be known that they will organize a state-wide movement in his behalf for the vacancy on the United States Supreme bench if Washington advises hold out sufficient hope in the next few days.

$2,236,192 SET AS A FAIR PRICE FOR AUTOMATIC

Council's Phone Engineer Re-vamps Original Estimate In Report to Committee.

Kempster B. Miller, special engineer for the council committee on gas, oil, and electric light, believes $2,236,192 a fair price for the Chicago Telephone company to pay for the automatic telephone plant. In a supplemental report yesterday he gave this figure as a substitute for his original estimate of $1,161,064, the change being explained by additional information furnished him by the Bell company after President B. E. Sunny had questioned his figures. Mr. Sunny's contention at that time was that the plant was worth $4,872,000 to his company.

Having reached this stopping point the committee agreed to meet next Monday evening to consider the report of the attorney who have been endeavoring to secure the form of an ordinance approving the proposed sale. Walter L. Egan, representing Mayor Thompson, and Corporation Counsel Eitzen and Stephen A. Foster, counsel for the committee, will try to agree upon a final draft of the measure before that time.

Miller Explains Figures.
Mr. Miller's conclusions were set forth as follows:

"If all the property which I conceive to be useful to the Chicago Telephone company could be put into service immediately, my estimate of its value would be $2,000,473. Of this total the representatives of the Chicago Telephone company disagree on but two items aggregating $230,974, thus bringing their total of the value of the useful property (to which I do not agree) up to $2,934,847.

"I have based all my calculations on reducing to present worth the value of all property having only deferred usefulness, thus bringing my total of $2,000,473 down to $2,236,192, which is my best estimate of the present value of this physical property to the Chicago Telephone company."

"Of this amount $704,134 is the value which the Chicago Telephone company expects to get from the sale of the property it cannot use, the remainder, $1,532,058 being the present value of the property which the company will put into actual use in giving telephone service and which, therefore, is the amount that I believe should be taken into consideration in fixing telephone rates."

Change in Tunnel Figures.
The biggest change from Mr. Miller's original figures came in the value of the right to use space in the freight tunnels for cables. His first estimate of this value was $35,500 and his revised figures were as follows:

Space for meeting requirements of regular telephone growth ..... $ 84,000
For facilitating disposal and maintenance of cables during subway construction ..... 118,960
For replacing conduit destroyed by subway construction ..... 92,480
For additional river crossings ..... 89,000
Total ..... $387,080
Mr. Sunny's estimate of the value of these rights was $1,905,000.

When Attorney Fisher argued strongly that the ordinance should contain the specific amount the Chicago Telephone company shall be allowed to add to its capital account (on which rates are based) in the event of a sale, the committee appeared to agree with him, although no vote was taken.

GRAND JURY INQUIRY.

Joseph A. Thomas, whose wife died from poisoning, is under close police surveillance, and Mrs. Lillian Wykel-Thomas, who admits being his "affinity" but is suspected of being wife No. 2, was taken in custody yesterday and held secretly as a witness.

Coroner Hoffman plans to take the "affinity" and six other witnesses before the grand jury this morning.

Late in the evening a petition was filed in the Circuit court for a writ of habeas corpus to free Mrs. Wykel, and Judge Barrett held court at 12:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Wykel, who later said her right name is Florence Davis, was taken to the Criminal court building in response to a writ of habeas corpus and repaid to the custody of the sheriff.

Two weeks after his wife died Thomas moved the furniture from his former home to his home and since then he has been living as man and wife. He had represented himself as single and an employee of the county morgue. When I learned the truth I didn't care, because I love him and he loves me. I'll stick to him and he'll stick to me."

Fred Bertucci, who swore at the inquest that Thomas spent all the nights he was away from home in the Bertucci saloon on Ogden avenue, admitted, according to the coroner, that he falsified at the request of Thomas.

been legally married to Thomas seven years ago.

The decedent was Mrs. Crystal Thomas, to whom the man under surveillance had been married for fourteen years. She and her sisters were in a street-car collision on Nov. 2.

The death was originally reported as a "street car accident," but Coroner Hoffman was suspicious. Chemist William D. McNally found the organs to contain cyanide of potassium.

Second Household Discovered.
Yesterday the coroner's investigators got positive evidence that Thomas was maintaining a second household. The affinity was taken without difficulty, and the detectives brought with her Mrs. Core Davis, wife of Homer Davis, a waiter.

"I love Joe and he loves me," said the affinity, according to Coroner Hoffman. "I am a native of Charleston, W. Va. Wykel is my family name. My brother is a practicing physician there. I married a man named Thomas nine years ago, but we couldn't agree, and our two children are in the east. I first came to Chicago about seven years ago. I was working as a demonstrator of foods and traveled in and out of the city."

Not a Charity Work.
This is not a charity proposition. The men do not want money. They want work. They are to repay out of their first earnings the cost of their present keep. Many are experienced and competent at some trade. All wish to pay their own way, and this little help from the committee to tide them over a crucial period will enable them eventually to do so. The men's cases have all been investigated and the men are believed to be worthy.

Rosenthal Gets Many Jobs.
Mr. Rosenthal himself has secured jobs for a large number of men. In one day by means of the telephone he got jobs for one cigar maker, one printer, six men in an electrical works, one with an explosive firm at Gary, and three with a large Chicago mail order house. Over 100 have been placed since last Saturday. Another hundred still need jobs.

Mr. Rosenthal's phone is Randolph 6163, and persons having jobs are asked to call him at that number.

FINAL ROUNDUP PLANNED IN DRY CHICAGO FIGHT.

Numerous Meetings Scheduled for Tomorrow in Campaign to Get 167,000 Signers of Petition.

The dry Chicago federation, with only twelve more days in which to complete its petition of 167,000 bona fide voters, will make today its greatest roundup drive. Invitations have been issued to a luncheon at noon at the Hotel La Salle. It is hoped to have 1,000 temperance workers present. Mayor W. W. Bennett of Rockford, a dry city, will be the keynote speaker.

Women of the clubs and the Women's Church federation, representing 600 churches, are invited to a meeting at 6 o'clock at the Auditorium hotel. Mayor Bennett will also address this meeting.

The date for the final handing in of the lists at the federation headquarters, 106 North La Salle street, is Jan. 28.

NOT A CHARITY SCHEME

Benjamin J. Rosenthal, working in conjunction with the committee on unemployment in the city's department of public welfare, has asked THE TRIBUNE to appeal for help in securing employment for jobless men.

One hundred business men are asked to provide employment for each of 100 men. The committee will provide the men. They have been taken from the municipal lodging house—men who found themselves there through adversity—and are being cared for at a good cheap hotel until work for them is secured.

FLICKERINGS FROM FILM LAND

What They Can Do To a Clever Novel.

"WHAT WILL PEOPLE SAY?"

Produced by Metro.
 Screenplay by Harry Potter.
 Story by Harry Potter.
 Director: Harry Potter.

BY KITTY KELLY.

ABOUT two years ago, Rupert Hughes wrote a book on the frailties of present society as he saw them, that for cleverness, brilliancy, and power has met no match. It will live, even in these days of a certain phase of society—and the proof of that is that it is as readable today as when it came out of his magazine serial form.

Besides being most readable, and alive with vivid interpretations of the prevailing manners and modes, it was full of drama which would lend itself wonderfully to pictorial expression. Situations in number were sharp and significant, and the end, on the deep note of tragedy, was capable of as fine expression in picture as it had been treated with in print.

And so in these days, when there is frantic combing for every pictorial possibility to which an important name may be hitched, "What Will People Say?" falls into the hands of the film makers. That is not my quarrel with Mr. Hughes, however. The trouble is that he let so significant a book fall so carelessly.

The theme of the book is the restraining fear of public opinion that keeps people doing the conventional thing, and it is developed through the life of a beautiful girl, who, finding that money and love did not go together, accepted the meagre and sought the other surreptitiously. Persis married her millions and Willie Enalee, and intrigued with Count. Forgive, whom she loved truly but loved not marry, because what would her father say about it if she were poor?

These are some of the things that do to the story in the picture. At first Persis, in the person of Olga Petrova, beautiful but in close-up too old, is introduced under a black feather, when everybody remembers that haunting white feather.

Willie Enalee, an undignified, pathetic figure of wealth, is so cast as to be more likeable than this hero. He is further endowed with a mistress who made very minor, if any, appearance in the book—because of whom Persis finds excuse for her disloyalty.

Not once in all his pages does Mr. Hughes justify Persis' wrongdoing except by the basic fact that she was married wrongly. She was deliberate in her sin, in his conception of her, and she would not free herself from Willie because of "what would people say."

But in the picture her conduct is palliated at every turn. And it ends in this: After a great free for all fight, in which Persis and Willie roll all over each other, hit each other on the heads with maces, toss each other over balconies, and knock down the rickety grand stairway in the palatial New York mansion, the visible amusement of the beautiful observers, to whom lights "ain't no treat" any more.

It ends with Willie permanently out of commission at the hands of Persis and Persis in the latter's arms, reciprocating in the matter of kisses. None who read the book can forget that Persis was stabbed at dinner by Willie, and died true to social form, so that people would have less to say, by claiming suicide.

Grow Old Gracefully.

Antoinette Donnelly

It is really pathetic to see the dread with which most women regard getting old. It is a sort of unknown land peopled with horror, just as timid little children see bogies in the darkness. They shrink from old age—and even middle age—with the greatest disgust, and they do all they can to hide the traces of time. No trouble is too trouble to take, no expense too petty to stoop to if they can only persuade the world that they are not yet past their youth.

Of course, where a woman has to earn her living her age may handicap her. But it is not the business girl but the idle woman who makes such an absurd mystery out of the exact date of her birth.

There are so many real sorrows in this workaday world that it does not do to allow ourselves to fret over the things that don't alter and the things which we can't help. So, if any of you are inclined to sigh over your gray hairs, remember that the autumn may be a very beautiful season and take courage.

Think how glorious nature is at the fall of the year. The land seems ablaze with the golden corn and the crimson leaves—richer far than in her summer robes of green—and the fruits, purple, and gold, and red, are like exquisite jewels.

Our middle age ought to be ripe with the fruit of experience and bright and glowing with the love and kindness which we have garnered through the years.

What are a few wrinkles around the eyes if the eyes themselves have learned to look kindly and with understanding? No one will notice the lines about your lips if they only move to speak generous, cheerful words.

There is nothing more annoying than the woman who is always harping on the question of her age, trying you to tell her she looks ten years younger than she is. And there is nothing more absurd than the woman who is no longer young pretending to be a mere child. A pleasing contrast is she who is neither ashamed of her age nor worried about it.

There is one thing we might remember, and that is that there are some of the beauties of youth which need not vanish with the years, but may be preserved until old age and death itself. Our hearts may remain young; we can still keep our faith and enthusiasm, our optimism, and sense of fun.

Gals Out of Doors.

How did I keep young? Why, by not using my telephone so much. I wanted to learn how my friends were all I had to do was to go to the telephone and call them. As a result I did not go visiting often. ## Hates to Be Kissed.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a girl of 15. I like a boy about four years my senior. His folks are good friends of my parents and brother, who is 18."

"This brings us together often and he always wants to kiss me (a friendly kiss, as he calls it). The other evening my brother and I were visiting him and his sister. While there he kissed me. This made me angry. He afterwards apologized."

"Once I went with him to a show. My brother and his sister went, too. We had a nice time. My parents object to my going with any boy. Are they right? I hate to be kissed. Please advise what I should do, as this boy is soon to go away."

When you are 19 you will probably feel different about this kissing business, but don't ever get the idea that it is right to let any man kiss you, this is the right only of the man who asks you to marry him. ## In a Deep Love.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a girl over 22. I have known a man for four years. We kept company for some months. He was frank and good hearted, so that he made me love him."

"I am sorry to say, but I am in deep love with him. I feel I can never love any one else. Lately he told me he did love me some time ago, but now only as a friend, and said he was willing to keep my company if I wanted to. Do you think there are some hopes for me yet?"

"And is it right for me to keep his company when he refused to marry me? Please advise me what to do, as you are helping so many, you might help me, too."

"P. G."

I'm of the opinion that deep down in his heart he does like you, but for some reason or other he is not in a position to marry you now. I see no reason why you shouldn't go on being friends just as you have been. Don't let him know how deeply you feel about the matter; he will respect you all the more if you show a spirit of independence.

BRIGHT SAYINGS of the CHILDREN

"The Tribune" will pay $1 for each child's saying printed. The stories may be left in either by children or their parents. The only condition is the story told must never have been printed before. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unsuitable contributions. Write to: Bright Sayings, c/o Tribune, Chicago.

Bernhardt at the Ziegfeld.

The Ziegfeld will be the first Chicago house to show a Bette Bird photograph. It has been decided to put on Sarah Bernhardt in "Jeanne Dore" tomorrow, instead of Julia Dean in "The Ransom." "Marvelous Maciste" will also be given, as well as another Bicket & Watson. "Mucky Bucker-Keep Moving" comedy.

People who may be lured thither through their admiration of the admirable—except when he permitted this thing—Mr. Hughes, won't be seeing "What Will People Say?" They will be seeing an indifferent melodrama masquerading under that magnetic name.

Why should producers take such liberties with well known ideas as to eliminate all of the ideas except the title?

National Censor Fight On.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—Advocates and opponents of the Hughes-Smith motion picture censorship bill argued vigorously for three hours tonight before the house educational committee. Friends of the measure urged that national censorship was necessary to safeguard public morals, while moving picture men declared the measure was unnecessary and its passage would mean bankruptcy for the motion picture interests of the United States.

Hearings will continue for six nights and scores of witnesses are to be heard.

FASHION'S BLUE BOOK

(Copyright: 1916: By the Chicago Tribune and the New York Globe.)

Midseason Suit of Wine Colored Broadcloth.

On all sides rumors are heard that short coats and Eton jackets are to appear in the fashions for spring. This is indeed a revival of a charming style, especially for the slim figure, for bolero and Eton jackets have a youthfulness and jauntyness of their own which is unknown in longer models.

The short coat is an important feature of many of the new models designed for midseason wear, for when a woman puts on a winter suit in September, by the time January is reached she nearly always finds it imperative to order a new costume, and in anticipation of this necessity many interesting new styles are created for the in-between season.

A decidedly attractive mode is pictured in the above illustration. The suit of wine color broadcloth, with its flaring skirt and peplum and its high collar, shows that the military influence has not yet died out. A bit of beaver at the top of the collar is a coquettish touch, and the calendar registers winter, although in fashion's mind spring reigns.

Rows of stitching are a pretty finish for the wide sleeves, which are opened to show fine plaits of wine color taffeta. These are also ornamented with five quaint buttons, for these gay ornaments will be much in evidence in the coming season.

Two rows of buttons in larger size are placed on the coat, which carries a row of buttons in the French style, a great favorite for the military effect still further. In the back the coat is drawn in by the figure by a narrow belt which is fastened with a large button. The peplum is rather novel, as it opens in the center of the back and has a row of buttons and buttonholes, which, however, are not intended to be fastened.

Although many women are hesitating to southern climes, yet for those who prefer the rigors of the north there is much enjoyment to be had out of doors. At present fashion has set her approval on skating, and so a great number of lovely models have been originated for this delightful sport.

The skating skirt as favored by leaders of fashion who enjoy this sport, is remarkably short and quite full. Some of the most interesting styles are distinguished by large pockets, fastened with flaps, flaring in gauntlet style and trimmed per chance with buckles or leather.

While self-colored fabrics in vivid colors are greatly admired, especially for rink skating, many of the most effective costumes are designed from plaid materials, the fringes proving an interesting decoration.
